RESPONSIBLE INVESTING FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

Q1 Sustainability Reporting

Awarded April 1, 2021 – March 31, 2022

March 31, 2021

“ESG” risks are not new to the high yield market

Product liability (asbestos, tobacco, and now opioid), EPA Superfund liabilities, excess pension and health benefit claims, and malfeasance have been high yield market risks since inception

High yield issuers are accelerating the adoption of sustainability principles and increasing their transparency and reporting

Issuer Weighted High Yield Public Acknowledgement of various SDGs

Only 26% of high yield issuers publicly recognize any contribution to any SDGs

Forward-looking statements such as the findings of our analytical research, our outlook for interest rates, central bank policy, the economy, high yield markets and the like, illustrations of ESG integration in our fundamental credit analysis, or our intended adjustments to the portfolios within our flagship strategies are all subject to inherent risks, biases, and uncertainties that are beyond the control of SKY Harbor and may cause actual results to differ materially from the expectations expressed herein.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss and past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Fixed income securities, especially high yield debt securities, are subject to loss of income and principal arising from credit risk, which is the risk that the issuer will be unable to make interest and principal payments when due. Material risks in investing in high yield debt securities also include, but are not limited to, opportunity cost (the risk that an issuer’s credit trends deteriorate resulting in a higher level of compensation demanded by the market relative to the initial investment), interest rate risk, liquidity risk, selection risk, ESG (Environmental, Social and Governance) risk (sustainability focused strategies may underperform other high yield strategies), and overall market risk. In general, issuers of high yield debt securities have a greater likelihood of defaulting on the payment of interest or principal than issuers of investment grade bonds. There can be no assurance that the investment objectives described herein will be achieved or that substantial losses can be avoided.

Past performance is not indicative of future results.
